COVID-19 Update:

As of today, the Province of Saskatchewan is continuing to move forward with further health restrictions in response to the public health risks of COVID-19. The new public health orders include measure and restrictions to mitigate the transmission of the virus. As the pandemic evolves, the public health orders will change accordingly. If a public health order happens to conflict with the guidelines in the Re-Open Saskatchewan Plan, the requirements in the public health order take precedence.

Below are some general restrictions in place to help prevent the transmission of COVID-19. For a complete list of restrictions and information on the current health orders, as well as restrictions for specific workplaces, please visit saskatchewan.ca/COVID19.

General Restrictions:

Wearing a non-medical mask will now be required in all indoor public spaces in Saskatchewan.

Indoor private gatherings held in a private dwelling or out buildings associated with private dwellings (eg. garages, sheds, barns) shall not exceed 5 people. Two-meter physical distancing should be observed when people from outside the extended household are present.

Indoor public gatherings over 30 people and outdoor private gatherings over 30 people are prohibited except in the following circumstances where two-metre distancing between people can be maintained between individuals who are not in the same household/extended household:

- Settings where people are distributed into multiple rooms or buildings and workplaces, and
- Are a critical public service or an allowable business service.
- Events and activities to the extent that the guidelines applicable to those events or activities in the Re-open Saskatchewan Plan explicitly permits or requires an alternative gathering size for a specific event or activity. In such a case, the gathering size is explicitly permitted or required shall no be exceeded and specified physical distancing shall be maintained.

SHF is currently working with Sask Sport and the Saskatchewan Government Business Response Center as new guidelines and restrictions are being developed for implementation in sport next week. We will provide further updates if restrictions change that affect our equestrian sport.
